Database of Medicines Management

The National Prescribing Centre defines medicines management as 'a system of processes and behaviours that determines how medicines are used by the NHS and patients.' Medicines management is an essential facet of healthcare service provision and the work of a range of healthcare professionals that are involved in patient care.

The safe and effective management of medicines ensures that patients get the most out of their medication to support their health. It also enables healthcare professionals to provide attentive patient monitoring that can help negate potential negative medication side effects, reactions, and highlight any management process issues.

Our database of medicines management data provides contact details for professionals that are involved in defining and engaging with the processes, behaviours and handling of medicines management activities that support the most optimal use of medicines as part of patient care and clinical practice.

All information within the database is regularly verified and updated by our specialist team of product researchers; giving you the quality, targeted data you need and the reassurance that you will be GDPR compliant.

The data can be segmented to enable targeting of campaigns by:

- Job Responsibility
- Organisation Type
- NHS Region

Please note: It is common for a healthcare professional to have more than one responsibility. Therefore, there may be fewer named individuals on the database than there are areas of responsibility indicated above. Counts provided will be deduped to provide 'unique' contacts. Number of contacts may vary during our research cycle due to the fast-paced rate of change of organisations changes within UK healthcare. Counts correct at time of publishing December 2025.
